31 | MIDWEST ORTHOPAEDICS AT RUSH

Midwest Orthopaedics at Rush (MOR) has made it their mission to provide the highest level of patient care. MOR is nationally recognized as a leader in comprehensive orthopedic services. The physicians of MOR are primarily based at Rush University Medical Center, Central DuPage Hospital, Rush Oak Park Hospital, and Elmhurst Memorial Hospital. They are actively involved in the research and development of cutting-edge treatments that translate into the highest level of patient care.

The group's 38 physicians are fellowship trained in the following areas:

- Hip and knee reconstruction and replacement
- Spine, back, neck, spinal deformity, and scoliosis

- Hand, wrist, elbow, and shoulder
- Sports medicine and the Chicago Sports Concussion Clinic at Rush
- Foot and ankle
- Pediatric orthopedics, orthopedic trauma, and orthopedic oncology

MOR offers unique and comprehensive programs in various disciplines, including:

- Minimally invasive approaches to hip and knee replacement and revision, as well as hip resurfacing
- Minimally invasive spine surgery
- Knee and ligament (ACL/PCL) reconstruction
- Minimally invasive treatment for the upper extremities (shoulder, elbow, wrist, and hand)

- Total shoulder replacement
- Hip arthroscopy, which preserves the hip and helps patients return to a full, active life
- Cartilage restoration
- Foot and ankle care for trauma, arthritis, fractures, sports injuries, and congenital problems

U.S. News & World Report ranks the Rush University Medical Center orthopedic program as number eight in the nation and number one in the state of Illinois. The physicians of MOR serve as the team physicians for the Chicago Bulls, Chicago White Sox, and DePaul University, as well as many other professional, collegiate, and high school teams and clubs.
